For the last year we have been continuing under much reduced circumstances. We have survived. Is that enough?

Whereas that is certainly a start, I don't think we have done all we are capable of. Part of that is that it has become a one man show, with me, your President by Default as ringmaster, cook and bottle washer. I am a working stiff, and the Ravishing Wife would take it amiss were I to give up my day job to do all that ought be done here. Not, let it be noted, that I have done it almost all alone, I've had help from a number of people, notably Lois Scaff and Coral Weston.

What more can we do? Bring your ideas and opinions and lets git 'er done.
